Gary grew up in the small town of Helper in southeastern Utah. He had friends and neighbors with varying ethnic, religious and social backgrounds. They respected each other's differences and enjoyed each other's common interests. They were concerned about the safety and well being of their families, quality schooling for their children and employment such that they could provide for themselves. A job transfer led Gary, Christy and their five children to settle into the southwestern part of the Salt Lake valley approximately 16 years ago.

Gary's profession is in the Information Technology industry. He understands the importance of root-cause analysis and adopting best-practices to ensure quality results. He believes this will be a great strength he can use while serving in the legislature. He believes that having lived almost half of his life in an urban area and the other in a rural setting makes him uniquely qualified to represent District 50.

He has served:

On the Seventh District Court Judicial Nominating Commission

Was a liaison between the local community and Governor's office to help the town of Helper, Utah to be proclaimed as "Utah's Christmas Town."

In a number of volunteer positions with the Boy Scouts of America
